Our Philosophy

EVERY WATCH TELLS A STORY

To some, a watch may be seen as simply a piece of jewellery with a basic function of telling time. But for us, each and every watch carries a story.

The story often begins with how you acquired the watch, whether it was from a waiting list, an impulsive purchase, or an heirloom passed down from a family member. From that moment, the watch embarks on its own journey and becomes a part of your story, bearing witness to the challenges and achievements you face in your life.

At Clam Cases®, our mission is to help you preserve that story by providing a safe and secure place for your watch, ensuring that its legacy can be passed on to the next generation of watch enthusiasts. We understand the sentimental value and significance of each timepiece, and we are committed to safeguarding the memories and stories that are woven into the fabric of every watch.

Our Story

IT ALL STARTED WITH ONE WATCH

Our story begins with a single watch, a Rolex Submariner Date, purchased by our founder Harvey in 2016.

As a child, Harvey always admired his father's blue bi-metal Submariner, which was a staple on his father's wrist as he was growing up. As Harvey progressed in his career and matured, he diligently saved enough money to fulfil his long-held dream of owning a Rolex Submariner Date, which became his cherished timepiece for the next three years.

As a frequent traveller for work, Harvey had to come up with an improvised solution to store his beloved watch when flying abroad. He would wrap his watch in a sock and stuff it in his bag before going through security. However, this makeshift solution was not built to last, as the bracelet would rub against the case back, leaving marks on his cherished timepiece. This prompted Harvey to search for a more permanent and reliable solution for transporting his watch.

After two years of dedicated prototyping and testing, the first Clam Cases® watch case was born. Inspired by the iconic Oyster shape, it was aptly named the 'OYSTR'. The initial iterations came in Harvey's two favourite colours, 'Jet Black' and 'Racing Green'.

In 2020, the brand officially adopted the name Clam Cases® and began introducing new and exciting colour options to match different watch dials. Since then, Clam Cases® has rapidly gained popularity worldwide, with watch enthusiasts in Europe, the United States, Australia, and the UAE embracing the innovative and stylish watch storage solution. As we enter 2022, Clam Cases® continues to grow, driven by its commitment to quality, functionality, and style, making it the preferred choice for watch collectors around the globe.

“At Clam Cases®, we place great importance on listening to our customers. Each and every product we design is inspired by the questions and feedback we receive from our valued customers.”
